Housing Affordability Breakthrough Challenge: RESIDENT SERVICES & SUPPORT

Please share more about your breakthrough idea by responding to the below questions.

1. Describe your innovation and how it represents a departure from other approaches.
   Please elaborate on how the innovation improves housing stability and promotes personal agency by testing or scaling new models for service delivery, testing or scaling new approaches to outcomes measurement that directly informs service delivery, or offering the opportunity to prove and scale sustainable funding models for services. (Word limit: 500)

2. If successful, what is the long-term impact of this innovation?
   (Word limit: 500)

3. Describe the population your innovation will serve.
   Please be as specific as possible about the corresponding income levels of this population in relation to the area’s median income. (Word limit: 250)

4. Please indicate the specific income level(s) served by your innovation.
   Check all that apply.

5. Describe the geographic footprint of your innovation.
   (Word limit: 250)

6. Please describe the local, regional and/or national context and/or market conditions that have informed this innovation.
   We want to understand your breakthrough idea in the context of the social, economic, and/or political landscape in which you’re working. (Word limit: 250)

7. Does this innovation address racial equity? If so, please describe how racial equity principles are incorporated into your idea's practices/processes and/or how the idea will address racial disparities in housing affordability.
   Enterprise sees racial equity as both a practice of how we engage in our work, and an outcome in which race does not predict one's success in life. (Word limit: 250)

8. Does this innovation incorporate environmental components such as climate resilience, green building, or healthy building practices? If so, please elaborate on how this is a significant component of the innovation.
   (Word limit: 250)

9. Is technology an important component of this innovation? If so, please elaborate on how.
   (Word limit: 250)

10. How could this innovation be leveraged and scaled beyond the grant period of the challenge?
    The expected grant period for the challenge is mid-2020 through 2022. (Word limit: 250)
11. Describe your project team. What makes you well-suited to understand the opportunity statement and craft solutions to address it?

(Word limit: 250)

12. Please list up to 5 key partners that will help you execute this innovation successfully.

Partners do not have to be currently involved in the project in order to be listed. We understand that your project team might still be in development.

13. On a scale of 1-5 with 1 being brand new and 5 being an experienced veteran, where does your project team fall in terms of its experience working on affordable housing issues?

We understand that applicants are coming to the challenge with different backgrounds and areas of expertise. That's great! We are more concerned with your ability to execute your breakthrough idea than we are with your level of experience in affordable housing and community development, but we want to know your starting point.

14. Please elaborate on your scoring in Question 13. If your score is 3, 2 or 1, what motivated you to pursue this new arena? If your score is >3, what motivated you to pursue this new approach?

(Word limit: 250)

15. Do you expect to be listed in another HABC application?

Only one application per idea is permitted, but we understand you might be involved in developing more than one distinct breakthrough idea. This question will not impact your score or selection, it just helps us connect dots between applications.
