Design for Resilience Grant Program
RFP Deadline This Friday

Across the nation, heat waves, droughts and floods have become more frequent and severe, increasing risks to people and intense damage to homes and infrastructure – and low-income communities are the most vulnerable to extreme weather.

In partnership with NeighborWorks America, our newest grant opportunity supports strengthening climate resilience in neighborhoods nationwide. Five affordable housing organizations will create multi-hazard climate action plans for their properties – both construction of new developments and rehabilitation of existing buildings are eligible to participate.

RFP responses are due this Friday, July 21, so read the RFP and submit now for consideration.

VIDEO: UNDESIGN THE REDLINE IN BALTIMORE

David Bowers, Enterprise vice president and Mid-Atlantic market leader, recently spoke with WBAL-TV about Undesign the Redline in Baltimore.

Undesign the Redline is an interactive exhibit connecting the intentional and systematic racial housing segregation of the 1930s to political and social issues of today. The exhibit will travel to D.C. this fall.
